

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES

KILLS FRIEND OF GIRL, THEN SELF

Double Shooting Tragedy Occurred Near Hanover During Saturday Night.

JEALOUSY WAS THE CAUSE

Trooper Snyder, Gettysburg, Found Body of Murderer Hanging From Pear Tree Near His Home.

Saturday night between 11:30 and 12:00 o'clock Samuel Bowman, 38, of Hanover R. D. 4, shot Mrs. Minnie Resh, 27, daughter of Ira Eichelberger, Hanover R. D. 3, and Emanuel Rohrbaugh, 26, of Hanover R. D. 2, at her home about two miles south of Hanover, when she was returning from attending a church festival with Rohrbaugh. He used a double-barrel shotgun and Rohrbaugh died at the York Hospital at 6 o'clock Sunday morning. Mrs. Resh has a slight chance for recovery. Immediately after the shooting Bowman went to his home about a half mile south of the Eichelberger farm and committed suicide by shooting himself with a 32 calibre revolver while standing on a ladder with a noose about his neck. His body was found by A. B. Snyder, of the local state police station, at 4:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

State Trooper Snyder was called about 1:30 Sunday morning by Chief Crabbs, of Hanover, and notified of the crime. When he arrived at the Eichelberger farm about two o'clock with Charles Myers and George Haverberger in the latter's automobile, he found about a hundred men and machines had gathered from Hanover to organize a search party for the author of the shooting.

Mrs. Minnie Resh came home with Emanuel Rohrbaugh from a church social about 12 o'clock. When she got out of the Ford machine to open the garage door which is at the crossroads, about fifty yards from the house, Bowman who was hiding behind a large tree close by stepped out and shot Rohrbaugh in the face and jaw and then discharged the second barrel at her, the charge taking effect in her shoulder and neck. Bowman then fled.

The shots were heard but no one came to investigate and the girl managed to drag herself to the house about fifty yards away and get help. The ambulance from the York hospital was sent for and they were taken to the hospital, where Rohrbaugh died at 6:00 o'clock Sunday morning. The girl is said to have a fair chance for recovery, although she has a bad wound in her right shoulder and part of the charge penetrated her neck and lodged in her mouth.

Bowman had been paying attention to Mrs. Resh for about a year when she tired of him and began keeping company with Rohrbaugh. Bowman

FIRST BLOCK DANCE

Fire Company And Band Will Stage Party.

Thursday, July 28, under the auspices of the Citizens Band and the Gettysburg Fire Company the first block dance of the summer will be held. Permission has been secured to use that part of York street in front of the high school building. Refreshments will be served on the high school lawn. The funds will go for the benefit of the two organizations.

Last summer after the completion of the paving of York and Chambersburg streets, block dancing was the popular outdoor sport, but no effort has been made until now to hold a party on the street this year.

EXTRA TRAIN RUMOR

It has been reported in railroad circles that arrangements are being made to run another evening train over the Philadelphia and Reading, leaving Harrisburg about 7:30 p. m., and arriving in Gettysburg about 9:30. No announcement to that effect, however, has been made by the railroad officials.

CARS COLLIDE HEAD ON; 2 HURT

Accident Occurred Sunday Afternoon at Kane's Store on Lincoln Highway.

TRUCK OUT A SIDE ROAD

Big Roadster Crashes Into Light Truck Carrying Three Men. Girls in Roadster Disappear.

One man was seriously injured, another sustained a broken arm and minor injuries and two were slightly hurt Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when a Moon roadster collided head on with a Ford truck on the Lincoln Highway at Kane's store.

A. A. Scheuerman, sixty years old, Chambersburg, an occupant of the truck, is believed to have been injured internally. He was taken to the Chambersburg Hospital. K. W. Lader, of Chambersburg, sustained a broken arm and contused wounds about the body. Harry Evans, also of Chambersburg, was lacerated about the head and suffered from contused wounds in the legs. His injuries are not serious.

The accident occurred as the truck operated by L. R. Evans, Chambersburg, came out of a side road on the Lincoln Highway at Kane's store. The roadster, which was driven by Frank Wilson, Fairfield, Connecticut, was proceeding on the Lincoln Highway east and the Connecticut machine struck the truck at the left front wheel. Both cars were completely wrecked. Mr. Wilson and two girls, who were with him escaped with scratches. The girls disappeared after the accident.

First aid treatment was given by a Pittsburgh physician, who was traveling that way, and Miss Esther Tipton, of Gettysburg. The ambulance from the Chambersburg Hospital was called to take Mr. Scheuerman to the institution for treatment. Mr. Wilson came to Gettysburg in another car made arrangements to have the wrecked machine towed here. It is now in the Plank garage undergoing repairs.

Trooper Snyder, of the local State Police station, was called to the scene of the accident. According to the story told him, the driver of the truck came down the side road which is fairly steep, intending to turn left onto the Lincoln Highway toward Chambersburg. The road is hidden to the west by a house and he did not see the roadster until his machine was on the highway. The roadster which was said to have been traveling rapidly hit the front of the truck head on.

Damages to the roadster consist of a broken wind shield, smashed headlights and radiator, bent front axle and a chassis badly twisted. The owner after leaving word to have it pulled in and repaired proceeded to York in another car. The left front wheel on the truck was smashed and the side struck was demolished. It has not been removed.

Wilson was held by the authorities in Chambersburg Sunday morning for not having the correct engine number on his registration card, but he convinced the authorities that he was the owner of the car. After the accident near Cashtown the State Police here could see no reason to hold him and he was allowed to go on.

WAS REAL FORGER

Man Who Operated Here Not Known In Syracuse.

A communication has been received by one of the Hanover merchants who was victimized July 1 when a stranger who represented himself to be A. F. Rawlins, an agent for school supplies, successfully passed bogus certified checks on four tradesmen there, from C. W. Bardeen, Syracuse, New York, whose signature was supposedly affixed to the checks. Mr. Bardeen returned one of the checks sent him for examination, and says in his letter the thing is "a forgery from start to finish." Three Gettysburg men also suffered losses at the hands of Rawlins.

Mr. Bardeen states that he has no account in the Merchants National Bank of Syracuse and that he knows no one by the name of Rawlins. Every day for the past two weeks, he continues, he has been in receipt of forged "certified" checks protested by the Merchants National Bank. The case has been placed in the hands of a detective agency, and every effort will be made to run down the forger, Mr. Bardeen declares.

NEAR DROWNING AT DICKS' DAM

Gettysburg Men Rescue Bather Where Stambaugh Went Down.

Another bathing fatality was narrowly averted Sunday afternoon when Berley Geiman, of Hanover, was rescued from drowning at Dick's Dam in the Conewago by Harry Oyler, Kenneth Rudisill, Albert Menchey, all of Gettysburg.

About 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon Geiman, who is a poor swimmer attempted to swim across the creek and went down when he had covered a little over half the distance. His danger was seen by Albert Menchey, Kenneth Rudisill and Harry Oyler, who had been swimming all afternoon and they went at once to his aid. They were all tired out and had some difficulty to keep the drowning man up until a boat could reach them, as he is rather a big man.

He went down five times but had the presence of mind to hold his breath and avoid clutching his rescuers. When brought to the bank, resuscitation treatment was given him and he recovered in a few moments, saying, "Well, I pretty near drowned, didn't I?"

Bystanders said the spot where Geiman went down was not more than five feet from where Clark Stambaugh, of Gettysburg, met his tragic end several weeks ago when in the excitement no one had presence of mind to go to his aid soon enough.

Geiman although somewhat shaken by his experience, will suffer no ill effects. Some of his rescuers were nearly as exhausted as he and needed assistance to reach the bank, but are none the worse off for playing their heroic parts.

DEER HELPED HIS CROP

Rye Field That Seemed Ruined Turned Out Well.

While farmers have frequently complained of the damage done to crops by deer in certain sections of the county, Charles Brinkerhoff, near Wenksville, is one who will defend the deer.

Last fall Mr. Brinkerhoff planted five acres in rye. Soon afterwards the green sprouts appeared above the ground. Before cold weather set in the deer had eaten every bit of green in sight. Mr. Brinkerhoff counted his rye crop as lost last winter, but this spring it grew up with surprising rapidity and not long ago he harvested the five acres, which netted him twenty eight bushels to the acre.

CHANGE FUMIGATION LAW

State Revises Code Calling For Disinfecting Only For Small Pox.

Notice from the State Department of Health has been received by Dr. C. G. Crist, county medical director, that hereafter it will not be necessary to fumigate buildings where persons with contagious diseases have been housed. This rule covers all contagious diseases with the exception of small pox. Formerly it was required by law that health officers fumigate for chicken pox, pulmonary tuberculosis, diphtheria, scarlet fever, yellow fever, and cerebral spinal fever.

Indications are, health authorities say, that the quarantine period for a number of diseases will be shortened.

HAVE RECOVERED BODY

No Further Details Of Drowning Are Received, However.

The body of Rutledge Feild, assistant sales manager of Tyson Brothers, Incorporated, has been recovered. Mr. Feild, who left Guernsey a week ago on vacation camping trip to Moorehead City, North Carolina, was drowned the latter part of last week. No further details have been received here.

William C. Tyson, of Guernsey, left Sunday for Raleigh, North Carolina, to attend the funeral scheduled for tonight at 6:30 o'clock.

GREAT ASSEMBLY WHEN ROADS OPEN

Plans For Gathering of Motorists at Caledonia Underway.

WILL ATTRACT HUNDREDS

Speakers of National Prominence Will Be Present at Ox Roast And Barbecue About October First.

A celebration, unlike any other ever held in southern Pennsylvania, is scheduled to take place not later than the first of October at Caledonia Park, along the Lincoln Highway between here and Chambersburg, when people from towns and cities along the Lincoln Highway and the feeder roadways gather there to celebrate the opening of the newly built roads in this section of Pennsylvania, especially those centering at Gettysburg. Announcement of this event was made public today by officials of the Lincoln Highway Association here, who are now engaged in making preliminary plans for the assembly of motorists at the mountain park.

Tentative plans include motor runs from towns within a radius of seventy five miles of the park. Invitations will be sent to Harrisburg, York, Lancaster, Columbia, Chambersburg, Waynesboro, Hagerstown, Frederick and smaller towns in the region embraced by these cities, asking them to send delegations to the formal opening of this network of concrete thoroughfares which will be completed and open for traffic not later than October first, it is said.

TAKES MIRACLE AS SERMON THEME

Dr. A. E. Wagner Addressed Union Service in Presbyterian Church.

At the Union services held Sunday night in the Presbyterian Church, the Rev. A. E. Wagner, D. D., delivered an interesting sermon on the miracle of the feeding of the five thousand.

Dr. Wagner pointed out that Jesus, feeding the hungry multitude which had followed him into the wilderness, made use of the inadequate means at hand, namely five loaves and two fishes which a lad in the party had. This example was used to explain the co-operation between God and man, and man's dependency upon forces outside himself—all manifestations of God's goodness.

"The lesson of this miracle for us," Dr. Wagner said, "is that human resources and God's blessing are sufficient for every need. 'Man is dependent upon oxygen and the fruits of the field to sustain life. Without harnessing the forces of nature his power is small, and he could not have worked the marvelous accomplishments of modern civilization without making use of the stored power of the universe. Likewise, in the spiritual and moral realms, he can do nothing without God's blessing and co-operation.'"

"It is not what we have but how we use it that determines the extent and worth of human life," he added. "God can use the man with one talent as well as the man with ten. If you have one talent or a hundred, with divine co-operation you can meet the requirements of eternity, for it is not what you are alone but what you do with the blessing of the Great Helper that counts."

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Child Clung to Rear Tire of Father's Car.

Paul Warren, four-year-old son of Harry Warren, near Wenksville, had a narrow escape from serious injury Sunday when unnoticed by his father he held fast to the rear of the car as it was driven from the house. After having driven nearly a mile Mr. Warren heard a noise that sounded like brake trouble and stopped the car. Before the machine came to a stop the child which had pulled itself up on the tire of the rear, dropped off, badly scratching its face and bruising its body. Persons in a car that was following were unsuccessful in attempting to warn the father of the predicament of the child.

STUDENTS BUSY AT ARENDTSTVILLE

Project Work at Vocational School Underway. Compiling Valuable Figures.

Many of the male students of the Arendtsville Vocational School are now busy conducting their project work the completion of which is necessary for the diploma award. This project work takes some form of the farming industry especially dealing with cost of crop production and the results at the end of each year are filed and carefully preserved. The public can gain access to these records by calling at the school house where all information is at their disposal. The results of this work has been most helpful and in the future should prove a great asset to farm business and technique. The program in state-wide there being some sixty established vocational schools now in the commonwealth. Professor W. W. Wood is in charge of the Arendtsville work.

The following is a list of this year's students and their work:

GIBBONS TO MEET GEORGES

(By Associated Press) New York, July 18—Tom Gibbons, of St. Paul, today was matched to meet Georges Carpentier in October for the World's light-heavyweight championship. The bout will be either in the arena in Jersey City in which Carpentier lost to Dempsey, or in Madison Square Garden. The weight will be 175 pounds or under. Tex Rickard, promoter of the bout, did not announce the other terms.

Gibbons' manager agreed to have him on the scene of battle three weeks before the match. Carpentier signed articles three weeks ago agreeing to meet any man Rickard selected.

Carpentier sailed last Thursday for France to undergo treatment for his right hand injured in his fight with Dempsey. He is expected to return the middle of September. His old training quarters have been retained.

Gibbons, a brother of "Phantom Mike" of middleweight fame, is thirty one years old. He fought many bouts from 1913 to 1918 but slowed up considerably and was seen in few matches in 1919 and 1920. He returned to the ring this year, however, and won most of his bouts by knock outs.

URGES LEGION TO WORK FOR BONUS

Murdock Censors Statesmen For Delay in Passing Adjusted Compensation Bill.

DOUGHBOY NOT CONVINCED

Hard Matter to Convince Service Men That Free Spending Government Cannot Afford Bonus.

That veterans of the World War have been played with by the statesmen who were instrumental in delaying the passage of the adjusted compensation bill is the opinion of William G. Murdock, department adjutant of the American Legion, in an open statement to posts of the Legion urging them to continue the fight. "It is a hard matter to convince the average doughboy," says Mr. Murdock, "and thousands of them are without work and in actual want—that a government which could pay out millions of dollars in business to civilian employees in arsenals and navy yards and railroads cannot show some consideration to the service men."

"There is a general belief among Legion officials who have given careful study and consideration to this matter that some of the Government officials did not approach the study of this question from an unprejudiced viewpoint. To a few Legion officials there has always been the belief and conviction that Congress never did have any definite desire or intention of allowing the proposed legislation to be enacted. To these politicians there has been a growing conviction not only that the service men cannot and will not unite in pressing this question of adjusted compensation, but that the American Legion has definitely placed itself without the field of politics, and that, therefore, it need not be considered too seriously in this matter. The splendid fight which Commander Galbraith conducted for more than eight months in behalf of this legislation will be carried on by others in the sincere belief that the matter has not been fairly presented to the public. The statement that this legislation at the present time will affect the proper care and treatment of the disabled or sick service men is ridiculous on the face of it. If there is any organization interested in their welfare it is the American Legion, and Congress showed no disposition to interest itself in their behalf until driven to it by the Legion. Those who are dealing with this work every day know that the things which hinder the prompt and more efficient treatment of these men are Government red tape and its inability to consider the human equation in the individual cases. To the Government these men are merely numbers and a file of correspondence.

FIRE AND RIOT IN STATE PRISON

Western Penitentiary Scene of Outbreak Followed by Flames.

POLICE HOLD MEN AT BAY

Shrieks And Groans of Men in Terror Heard in Street. Report a Number Were Injured.

(By Associated Press) Pittsburgh, July 18—A reported outbreak of prisoners in the Western Penitentiary on the Ohio river here was followed soon after noon today by fire which quickly destroyed 10 frame factory building within the enclosure. Police and fire lines were drawn tightly around the institution and detailed reports of the outbreak were unavailable.

It was known, however, that penitentiary guards were reinforced by city policemen and deputy sheriffs armed with rifles and riot guns were holding the prisoners at bay while a heavy fire fighting force was endeavoring to extinguish the flames. The population of prison was said to be between 1200 and 1500.

Prisoners In Terror

A peep through one of the prison gates showed a party of Pittsburgh detectives with drawn revolvers facing a great crowd of prisoners in the yard. The men appeared to be in great terror from the flames which raged back of them. So far as could be seen none of them was armed. Meantime the flames had crept along the Ohio river side and many prisoners confined in cells there shattered the glass in the windows and shrieked for help. Two watch towers on the walls were attacked by the fire and quickly consumed.

Persons in the street could distinctly hear the shrieks and groans of the imprisoned men and it was reported that a number had been hurt and taken to the first aid hospitals in a section of the prison remote from which the fire raged. Many citizens offered their services to the authorities and were added to Sheriff Haddock's force.

Warden Francis announced at 2:15 that he had asked Governor Sprout to send detachments of state police from the barracks at Butler and Greensburg to help guard the penitentiary tonight.

Many prisoners were removed from the south wing where the fire started. Soon afterward the great crowd which by this time had surrounded three sides of the prison believe they heard a series of shots and the shrieks which had come from the panic stricken prisoners for a time subsided.

At 1:45 o'clock it was announced at the office of John J. McKelvey, Pittsburgh's director of charities, that he had just sent five city physicians to the penitentiary in response to a call for medical aid. It appeared at that hour that the fire was under control.

STOCK REPORT

Pressure Forces Atlantic Gulf Down. British Rate Low.

(By Associated Press)

New York, July 18—Pressure forced Atlantic Gulf down over 3 points in the stock market this morning but other oils especially Mexican Petroleum and General Asphalt were decided strong. Steels and equipments threw off their early heaviness, General Electric showing marked strength. Movements among rails and shippings were irregular and a reactionary tone marked the trading on America Car and America Smelting. Leathers, textiles and food issues rose and fell confusedly.

Unsettlement in the foreign exchange market with the British rate at the lowest level of the year served to restrain buying for the long accounts. Call money opened at 6 per cent.

Offerings of Mexican Petroleum which reacted almost seven points undetermined the entire list later, foreign exchange also making further concessions.

The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 300,000 shares.

JAPAN DID NOT DELAY ANSWER

Express Amazement at Comment in The United States.

DEFEND JAPAN'S ATTITUDE

Newspaper Says No Reservations
Were Made. That Country Is Determined to Join Conference.

Tokio, July 18—Astonishment is expressed here that there has been comment in the United States over delay
by Japan in answering President Harding's invitation to participate in the disarmament conference.

The invitation was received in Tokio July 11 and was answered July 14. It was said yesterday in official quarters that, considering the importance of matters involving the Japanese, the Government acted with remarkable speed and reached its decision in record time.

Made No Reservations

The newspaper Asahi yesterday
maintains that it is wrong to construe Japan's answer as implying reservations. The newspaper says it is believed Japan's determination to join the conference will not be affected by the reply of the United States outlining the proposed scope of the conference. The Asahi claims that a section of the Cabinet desired to minimize the scope of the subjects for discussion, believing this would be advantageous to Japan, but that the Cabinet is ruled by Liberal views and desires to discuss Far Eastern questions and strongly present Japan's position.

Meanwhile, the Asahi says, an endeavor is being made to settle the changing questions between Japan,
America and China as soon as possible
by direct negotiations.

The newspaper Nichi Nichi yesterday forecasts that Japan will expedite a settlement of the questions of the evacuation of Siberia and Shantung,
and hopes to clear up the situation
before the opening of the Far Eastern conference. M. Matsuhira, attache of the Foreign Office, left for Chita Saturday to begin negotiations with the Far Eastern Republic.

Japan's Naval Attitude

A statement of the Nichi Nichi, outlining the navy's attitude on the imitation of armaments problem, is attracting attention. After emphasizing the statement that Japan is determined to curtail her eight battleship-eight cruiser program if an international agreement is reached, the Nichi Nichi complains that, notwithstanding the explanation of Vice Admiral Kato,
chief of the Naval Board of Education,
that Japan is unable to equal the naval achievements of the leading maritime powers, the Americans are under the impression that Japan intends to complete her program whatever happens.

Depends on U. S. Policy

"Japan's program," says the Nichi Nichi, "is relative. It is needless to say that it was framed with a view to meeting American naval projects.
If America tries to force Japan to curtail her program without stopping or modifying her own projects, it would be unreasonable and inconsistent that Japan's naval strength should be absolutely defensive, while America's offensive strength would be so increased that that country would become the predominant power in the Orient. Japan's navy is barely sufficient to maintain the existence of the country."

CHILDREN IN CRASH

Truck Turns Over Killing Man At Hallam.

Merry shouts of little children enjoying a truck ride in the country were quickly turned into screams of fright bordering on hysteria, when the driver lost control of the conveyance in which they were riding and crashed into a telephone pole along the Lincoln highway a short distance beyond Hallam, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. One person is dead as the result of the crash. He is Edward Fuller, aged about 50 years, North York, organizer of the party, whose injuries consisted of a fractured skull, several broken ribs, punctured lungs and both legs fractured.

Alveta Corwell, aged 10 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Corwell, North York, whose skull was fractured is expected to die. Little Miss Corwell's skull was so badly crushed that the brains protruded. An operation was performed a few hours after the child was admitted to the institution in the hope of saving her life, but hospital authorities declared her chances to be but "one in a thousand."

DE VALERA HOLDS FOR FREE IRELAND

Says Self Determination Policy Must Be Recognized in Statement.

London, July 18—Newspaper statements of a triangular conference between David Lloyd George, Sir James Craig and Eamonn de Valera to be instituted probably today were characterized yesterday by the spokesman for the De Valera party as "all moonshine." He added that such reports might be completely disregarded.

British To Deal With Craig

Asked whether this statement meant that the time was not ripe for such three-party discussions, the spokesman said:

"I don't wish to say that, for it would imply that the time might become ripe and we don't know that it will. We do not know what Sir James Craig is doing or what he may do. The British Government is dealing with him."

The Catholic members of the delegation, including Mr. De Valera, attended high mass yesterday at the Southwark Cathedral, where there was a large congregation. The Protestant members of the party, including Erskine Childers, Mr. Robinson and Robert Barton, attended morning services in St. Paul's Cathedral. Afterward the entire party went to Nazareth House, where Archbishop Mannix of Australia stayed during his visit to England.

De Valera's Statement

Mr. De Valera Sunday evening issued the following statement:
"The press gives the impression that I have been making certain compromise demands. I have made no demands, but one—the only one I am entitled to make. That is that the self-determination of the Irish nation shall be recognized."

The issuance of this statement is believed to have been directly due to reports in Paris and London claiming authority for the statement that Mr. De Valera was shelving the independent republic claim on the understanding that he would be offered what was termed "a practical equivalent." Exactly what equivalent was meant was not explained.

COUNTY CHURCH RAISES $5,000

Large Congregation at Re-Dedicatory Services at St. Luke's Sunday.

More than $5,000 were contributed by the members of the congregation of the St. Luke's Union church at White Hall Sunday, the closing day of the re-dedicatory services of the church.
From 9 o'clock in the morning until late Sunday evening there was an almost continuous program and at each service the edifice was crowded to the doors. In the evening so large an audience gathered that it was impossible to accommodate them.

Dr. J. A. Singmaster, Gettysburg, was the speaker at the morning service. His subject was "The Abiding Church." He traced the history of the church throughout the past centuries and declared that it was the only institution that had stood the test of time. He then outlined the duties and responsibilities of the members toward their own church.

Rev. I. M. Lau and Rev. R. S.
Weiler, pastors, then formally dedicated the church which has been extensively remodeled. Mr. Lau read the financial statement showing that the improvements had cost $7,000. Solicitors and secretaries were appointed to conduct a financial campaign and $3,000 was raised at the morning service. Dr. John C. Bowman, of Lancaster, explained the plan of the financial campaign. The Ladies Aid Society of the church contributed $500
and the Sunday School $300.

In the afternoon Rev. Paul R. Pontius, Gettysburg, and Rev. Paul Glad-felter, Abbotstown, were the speakers. Mr. Pontius' sermon which was especially effective was on the subject, "Chosen of God." Mr. Gladfel-ter spoke on "Beautifying the Temple." With Dr. Singmaster in charge the congregation added $426 to their contributions of the morning.

Dr. John C. Bowman, of Lancaster, speaking on the subject, "Witnessing for Christ," in the evening traced the development of the nations of the world and pointed to the many failures because empires had not witnessed for Christ. The total subscriptions for the day reached more than was traveling slowly, on the side.

He sustained a cut on the chin.

SIMS LAUDED IN MAJORITY REPORT

Daniels Scored in Statement
Made by Investigating Committee.

MINORITY DOES NOT AGREE

Were Two Sides to War Controversy.
Charge Many Sins of Omission and Commission in Administration.

Washington, July 18—Widely conflicting views regarding direction of the American Navy during the early months of the war were detailed in Republican and Democratic reports,
made public yesterday, of the Senate Naval Committee's investigation of controversies between former Secretary Daniels and Rear Admiral William S. Sims. The reports constitute the last controversy of May 1920,
caused by Rear Admiral Sims' letter sharply criticizing the Daniels war administration.

Wilson Included

Mr. Daniels, former President Wilson and Rear Admiral W. S. Benson, former chief of operations, were scored severely in the majority Republican report, which charged many sins of omission and commission in naval war direction. These officials were as stoutly defended and as highly praised in the majority Democratic report. Admiral Sims was commended by the majority and assailed by the minority.

A "self defensive, non-aggressive
and non-helpful policy" was imputed to the Democratic Administration by the majority report, which also charged many serious delays in Navy operations resulted. The minority found that "uniform success of our operations amply demonstrated the wisdom of the policies adopted and the plans carried out by the Navy Department"
and "instead of censure or criticism
the Department as well as the service deserves the hearty commendation of this committee of the American people."

Lessons of The War

Senators Hale, Maine; Ball, Delaware, and Keyes, New Hampshire,
signed the Republican majority report and Senators Pittman, Nevada, and Trammell, Florida, the Democratic minority. Each report makes a separate volume embracing detailed review of testimony from scores of witnesses during the Naval sub-committee's inquiry of May, 1920.

Two recommendations were made by the majority—for appointment of a professional commission of naval officers to study and apply to the American Navy lessons of the World War and for a Presidential commission, including civilians, to study and recommend reforms in Navy organization.
No recommendations were presented by the minority.

Story of Controversy

The investigation resulted from reading by Admiral Sims, during committee inquiry more than a year ago into his controversy with Mr. Daniels over naval awards of distinguished service decorations, of his letter to Mr. Daniels, written January 7, 1920, charging the Navy Department with numerous delays and derelictions in directing naval warfare. Many specific recommendations for future navy activities as "lessons of the war" were made by Admiral Sims, who was in chief command of the naval operations overseas during the war.

TO PROTECT ROBINS

Game Commissioner Grants Them
Respite. Are Eating Berries.

No action will be taken by the Game Commission to sanction the killing of song birds because they are reported to be damaging berry crops in their search for food during the drought. Secretary Gordon said the commission had taken up the matter at its quarterly meeting, but the laws give it no authority to act.

The United States Biological Survey granted permits, which had to be approved by State game authorities,
for killing robins, which destroyed fruit and berries from May 16 to July 15. The commission condemned this plan and declared the proper time to reduce the birds would be in autumn and not in the nesting season, when the young of slain
birds are left to starve.

JUDGE RULES IN SOX TRIAL

Chicago, July 18—The defense in the baseball-scandal trial won its first victory today when Judge Friend ruled the state cannot refer to statements of Eddie Cicotte, Joe Jackson and Claude Williams before the grand jury as "confessions." The statements which were later repudiated by the former White Sox players purported to reveal a plot to throw the 1919 World series to Cincinnati.

The state won a victory when Judge Friend overruled a motion by the defense to dismiss the 11 and 12th counts of the indictment which charge 8
members of the White Sox with conspiracy to cheat and defraud the club and Ray Schalk catcher, from the winner's share of the World series money

THIS SERVANT OWNED BIG CAR

Refuses to Explain How She is Able to Maintain $3,700
Machine.

New York, July 18—The interest
aroused in some persons when Cora Spaulding, a colored servant, was fined in traffic Court Wednesday for speeding in her own automobile of expensive make, fails to register in her mind. In her opinion there is nothing to get excited about when a lady's maid earns enough to buy a $3700 car.

There is a slight wrinkle in the plot furnished by the fact that the car is registered in the Secretary of State's office under the name of L.
P. Hill. She herself had a bill of sale for the car.

"The way to get a car is to work and earn it," is her advice. "I worked early and late until I got the money and then I went to Philadelphia and bought the auto. I use the car in my business some. I don't have much time for recreation."

When she bought the car, or where she goes on her excursions in it she refuses to say. The point about L.
P. Hill, she considers up to the Secretary of State to untangle.

"Why make such a fuss about my owning a car? Lots of folks around this part of Harlem own their own automobiles. You'll find a hundred negroes within a few blocks around here who have their own cars. If I owned a house I wouldn't think it strange. A lady's maid can own a car if she gets to work and earns it.
That's what I did, and that's all there is to it."

Miss Spaulding was arrested Wednesday for speeding on Seventh avenue. Before Magistrate House she pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $25 for speeding at 28 miles an hour and $1 for driving without her license.
The license was at home at the time,
she said.

REFUSED TO CANCEL LOAN

Washington, July 18—A letter from former president Wilson to Premier Lloyd George, of Great Britain declaring that the United States could not consider proposals to cancel or exchange Great Britain's indebtedness
to this nation was placed in the congressional records today by Senator Lodge, Massachusetts, Republican leader. Mr. Wilson's letter dated in October, 1920, was submitted to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee
a year ago by former secretary Houston. It said that "suggestions looking to the cancellation or exchange were made to the former president in Paris." The communication apparently was the reply to the British, premier's letter made public last week in the Senate Finance Committee hearing.

Boy Pleads With Congress

Jimmie Bradley can make the proud boast that he's the youngest person ever to appear before a congressional committee to argue Uncle Sam into spending money. Jimmie, armed with endorsements from President Harding and the American Forestry Association, made a plea to the House Committee of the District of Columbia on behalf of 80,000 Washington school children for an appropriation for the study of birds and trees. He is shown with Chairman Focht (seated) and Representative Underhill.

was very jealous and often came to the Eichelberger home, spying to see who the girl's visitors were and threatening that, unless she stopped seeing Rohrbaugh, "there would be a killing." As badly wounded as she was the girl was scarcely able to identify the perpetrator of the shooting, but Bowman was immediately suspected.

The posse from Hanover and State Trooper Snyder and Charles Myers and George Hayberger, of Gettysburg, began to scour the surrounding country for the murderer. After a search of about two hours, in the vicinity of the Bowman farm, a dog was heard barking and baying back of the barn. Trooper Snyder and his party traced the sound to an orchard and cornfield near the barn, and found the dog beneath the body of his master Samuel Bowman, which was hanging to the limb of a pear tree. Beneath the body which was hanging by a rope knotted in a tie rope was a 32 calibre revolver of an old type and against the tree a ladder was leaning. When the body was cut down a powder burned bullet hole was found in the shirt over the dead man's heart. He had evidently died before the noose pulled tight for the bullet pierced his heart, and there was no look of the agony of strangling on his face.

The dog refused to leave the body of his master, snapping and growling at those who came near, and when the undertaker's wagon came, lay down in the road beneath it.

A note was found scrawled on a sheet of note paper and tacked to a post on the porch of the Bowman home. Much misspelled and showing evidence of unsound mentality it reads:

"Farewell my father and mother kind
"On earth I leave you all behind
"Indulge no tears of grief for me
"For what I am you soon must be.

"Farewell my brothers and friends,
Dear,

"I know you'd love to keep me here
"But Jesus calls, I must obey
"And Angels welcome me away."

"Father and mother, a long farewell. My time is ended. Mother don't weep for me. Father and mother, you will find my body back of the barn under the pear tree. Father please bury my body at St. Paul's Dubs Cemetery or Mt. Olivet Cemetery."

Judging from the note and the preparations made by the murderer, his crime and suicide were evidently premeditated, and he made no attempt to escape. When his body was discovered, it was found clad only in an old blue shirt and a pair of overalls. The suicide-murderer wore no hat and his feet were bare.

The shotgun was found in the summer kitchen and had a smell of freshly-burned powder. Its usual place was upstairs in the Bowman home.

Bowman, who lived with his father, Samuel Bowman, Sr., his mother and one brother, his father said, had not acted strangely lately and was in the summer kitchen when he went up to bed. He did not hear him go out nor return, and did not hear the shot.

Bowman had lived with his parents, who are both over seventy, and had never been away from home nor on a train in his life. Living a lonely life, his jealousy of Mrs. Resh evidently preyed on his mind and he planned the details of his awful deed.

WOMEN CAUSE RIOT

Charged With Throwing Pepper at Men Who Took Places.

Great Falls, Mont., July 18—The arrest of eight women charged with throwing red pepper in the faces of men who took the places of striking employees precipitated a small riot here.

A thousand strike sympathizers stormed the police station where the women were being given a hearing, and two of the women broke away from the officers and leaped through windows into the arms of persons below.

Policemen were stationed on top of all downtown buildings to stop the throwing of bricks at men who replaced strikers and the mob at the police station was dispersed with the aid of a fire hose. In the meantime Sam Stephenson, president of the First National Bank, was surrounded on a downtown corner by strike sympathizers and roughly handled before police rescued him. Stephenson and other businessmen had been transporting the strike breakers to work in their own automobiles to avoid clashes with the strikers.

KILLED BLACK SNAKE

GERMANS GUILTY OF WAR CRIMES

Two Naval Officers Sentenced to Four Years in Prison.

Leipzig, July 18—Lieutenant Dittmar and Lieutenant Boldt, charged with murder in the first degree for firing on lifeboats after the Canadian hospital ship Llandovery Castle had been torpedoed in the summer of 1918, were each sentenced Saturday to four years' imprisonment. The sentence did not, however, carry hard labor with it, as demanded by the public prosecutor.

The case of Dittmar and Boldt differed from the others which had been heard by the Supreme Court here in connection with trials growing out of violations of the rules of civilized warfare, inasmuch as the two lieutenants were brought to trial by the German prosecutor. Great Britain only had demanded the trial of Commander Patzig, of the submarine which torpedoed the Llandovery Castle, who fled the country. The public prosecutor, however, after an examination of the evidence, ordered that Dittmar and Boldt be placed on trial.

Convicted Of Manslaughter

Lieutenant Boldt, who a short time ago retired from the navy, was ordered deprived of his civil rights.

The men were sentenced for manslaughter, not murder, on the ground that the "officers acted on the impulse of the moment."

An excited crowd filled the Courtroom Saturday. Many women and numerous friends of the prisoners were present. The prisoners looked more cheerful than at any time since their trial began, but their appearances changed when their sentences were announced.

Dr. Schmidt, president of the Supreme Court which is trying Germans accused of violations of civilized warfare, in reviewing the case against the two lieutenants, declared the Llandovery Castle was torpedoed against the law of nations.

"Everything aboard was in perfect order," he said, "and, furthermore, he sinking was against all regulations of the German admiralty, as the ship was in waters where torpedoing was forbidden."

"At least three lifeboats got clear. There was no reason why all could not have been picked up. All three must have been afloat when the submarine began firing and two of them must have been hit."

"The Court finds these boats were fired on intentionally, with the object of removing witnesses who could testify to the misdeed by the submarine commander."

CHILD A HERO

Millsboro, Del., July 18—Only 4 years old and unable to swim, little Jack Lockwood rescued his 2-year-old brother from drowning in a mill pond near Millsboro. The father, John E. Lockwood, of Dagsboro, drove to the Millsboro grist mill to have some feed ground. While he was in the mill the children climbed out of the wagon and to the bank of the pond. The 2-year-old boy fell in the water. Realizing his brother's peril, Jack waded out to his arm pits and grabbing the baby brought him safely to shore.

Millsboro people intend applying for a Carnegie medal for the child as the youngest life-saver in this country.

SCARIFICE FUTILE

Georgetown, Del., July 18—Waples Johnson, crack pitcher of the Georgetown baseball team, captain of last year's high school football team and married to a classmate 10 days after they had graduated in June from the high school, was drowned Saturday afternoon in a futile effort to rescue his cousin, Horace Fleetwood, Jr., while they were bathing in Old Furnace mill pond.

Fleetwood was taken with cramps, and Johnson swam out to him. In his efforts to get his cousin in he became exhausted and both were drowned. Their bodies were recovered in a short time, but all efforts to revive them were unavailing. Young Johnson was one of the most popular boys in town.

WARRANTS OUT TOO LATE

Lawyer Leaves Home Before They Can Be Served Upon Him.

Butler, Pa., July 18—Warrants for the arrest of Porter W. Lowry, aged 66, a prominent local attorney, well known throughout the State, on three separate criminal charges, including larceny, forgery and embezzlement of money aggregating $41,500, have been issued here. Lowry could not be found Saturday, and officers who went to his home, one of the most imposing residences in this city, were informed that he had left Butler suddenly Wednesday night, promising his family to inform them in a day or two of his destination.

It is said that other informations in addition to the three already filed will be made against Lowry in the near future. These charges are expected to bring the total amount of his alleged misappropriations to between $60,000 and $70,000.

ABOUT THIS TIME OF THE YEAR

developments in regard to this bill will have a far more far-reaching effect than many believe. It will have a tendency to bring closer together all veterans' organizations. Much of the encouragement given to some of these organizations has emanated from politicians, who were anxious to divide the strength of the soldiers, as they were not sure that they would not endeavor to exercise the same political influence which the G. A. R. did for so many years after the civil war. These same politicians were loud in their advice to the Legion to keep out of politics, but their motive was different from that which inspired the legion leaders in taking the wise step of not becoming a political organization. To these politicians, and to even the statesmen among them, the Legion is no longer considered dangerous to their political interests.

"I firmly believe that the potential strength of the Legion can be called forth at any time to overcome the impression that it need not be considered in matters political. Its influence in this respect may be felt more speedily and more effectively than many believe. President Harding was sincere and honest in every statement he made to Congress, but there is no doubt that much of the information furnished him came from sources which have always been opposed to the granting of a bonus. But it is a hard matter to convince the average doughboy—and thousands of them are out of work and in actual want—that a Government which could pay out millions of dollars in bonuses to civilian employees in arsenals and navy yards and railroads cannot show some consideration to the service men, and the attempt to justify their action in a measure by hiding behind the plea that the sick and disabled will suffer only adds to the conviction that another General Dawes is needed to impress some officials with actual conditions.

"Even many legionnaires who have never favored a bonus feel that Congress has played with the service man and support from many such, which has hitherto been withheld, will now be forthcoming. The most liberal figures which Legion officials can produce in regard to the cost of this legislation do not approximate those named by the Secretary of the Treasury."

THREE DIE IN CRASH

Two Trolley Cars Collide Near Pottstown.

Pottstown, Pa., July 18—Two men and a woman were killed and 25 persons injured, some of them seriously, when two trolley cars on the Pottstown & Phoenixville Railway Line had a head-on collision at Rahn's Hill, on the pike about a mile from Pottstown, late Saturday night. A car going westward in charge of Motorman Paul Heimbach, drifted past a switch when the brake apparatus was disabled, and, out of control, ran into a car in charge of Conductor Robert Lachman and Motorman Calvin, which was to have passed Heimbach's car on the switch. It had stopped on Rahn's Hill to let off passengers and the runaway car crashed into it with terrific force.

There were wild scenes after the collision, many passengers being caught between the seats. Motorman Calvin Levan, aged 30 years, of Pottstown, was pinned beneath the wreckage and Dr. Stapp had to amputate a crushed leg to get him loose. His other leg had been cut off in the crash. The other dead are: Mrs. Eva Shanley Wilson, of York street, Pottstown, aged 23 years, whose skull was fractured, and Earl Engle, of Queen street, Pottstown. One leg was cut off and he sustained internal injuries.

SOLDIER BURNED TO DEATH

Victim Of Motor Truck Accident In Colbenz Area.

Coblentz, Germany, July 18—James Higgins, a member of the Motor Transport Company of the American forces in Germany, whose home is in Dubuque, Iowa, was burned to death Saturday night under an overturned motor truck.

When the spill started Higgins gave the warning to a number of men who were in the truck, enabling all of them to escape. He was caught under the machine, however, and was fatally burned when the engine backfired, setting fire to the gasoline.

MIRACLE MAN HELD

York, Pa., July 18—Charles W. Dice, who was known as York's miracle man, has been arrested and will be given a hearing Tuesday on a charge of unlawfully practicing medicine.

Dice, who is a house painter by trade, claims to work wonderful cures on persons who are blind or suffering from defective vision.

The arrest of Dice was made upon information from the State Health Department.

MYSTERY ABOUT CRIMES

Pittsburgh, July 18—Miss Anna Mishock, of Large, was shot and killed in an automobile on the Clairton road near West Elizabeth, early Saturday and Finley Kuskis, of Coal Valley, seriously wounded was brought to a hospital here. According to the coroner's office, Kuskis appeared at a farmhouse not far from the scene of the shooting and, asking for assistance, told the farmer that Miss Mishock had shot him and then herself. The revolver with which the crime was committed was found in a field fully 50 feet from the road. Kuskis, the authorities said, was riding on that side of the automobile.

George Mitchell, aged 32, of Verona, a ferryboat operator, was killed with a hatchet today in his shanty, boat at Montrose. Chief of Police Whisner, of Verona, said that he found the body after Harry Wilson, who lived in a boat near Mitchell's, came to him and declared that he had killed a man on a shanty boat. Wilson is being held for investigation. No motive for the killing is known by the authorities.

WAR HERO STARVES

Trenton, July 18—Starvation is given as the cause of death in Mercer Hospital Saturday of Jesse E. Woods, who saw service during the world war as a seaman in the United States navy. Woods applied to the local Red Cross for food recently. As the man was evidently ill, however, he was sent to the hospital. He grew weaker steadily until death, the direct result of long abstinence from food, according to physicians.

Woods was a native of Antler, Okla., and the Red Cross has succeeded in locating his father, who telegraphed that the body be sent home. Trenton Post, American Legion, will furnish a guard of honor.

MRS. SARAH BREIGNER

Mrs. Sarah Breighner, wife of Jacob Breighner, died at her home in McSherrystown, Sunday, at about 6 a. m., being found dead in bed. Death was due to heart trouble. She was 70 years, 9 months and 10 days old. She was a daughter of the late Jacob and Thelma McConley. Mr. and Mrs. Breighner removed from near Abbottstown to McSherrystown last spring. Besides her husband, the deceased is survived by two children, Mrs. Wilson Sheaffer, Oxford Road, and Mrs. Emory Laughman, Bittingers; three grandchildren and one brother, William McConley, Lancaster.

RESCUE MANY AS BOAT HITS ROCKS

Small Boat Attached to Cable Saves Lives of 329 Tourists.

Ogdenburg, N. Y., July 18—A small boat connected with land by a heavy cable hauled 329 tourist passengers through raging waters of the St. Lawrence to safety yesterday as they were being landed from the steamer Rapids King of the Canada Steamship Line which went on the rocks Saturday in the Long Sault Rapids.

The cable was attached to the tiny craft because it was feared that if the boat were turned loose or even had a larger boat been used, the churning waters would have swept it away.

After the passengers were landed makeshift repairs were made upon the vessel, which had broken her rudder chain before being dashed against the rocks. The vessel later proceeded down stream under her own power.

First Mishap In 50 Years

The accident, said by old river men to be the first of its kind in 50 years, occurred Saturday afternoon when the Rapids King, bound from Prescott, Ont., to Montreal, broke her rudder chain. With much difficulty the crew, by means of the tiller, managed to beach the vessel 75 feet from Barnhardt's Island.

When the rudder chain broke the steamer had just passed through what is known as the "Cellar" of the rapids. The current was so strong—it was estimated at 16 miles an hour—that the big boat was turned completely around and a hole torn in a forward compartment before she was beached. The steamer listed slightly to starboard.

Captain Batten, of the Rapids King, one of the oldest pilots on the river, had a small boat launched with two sailors as oarsmen, made a landing after a perilous trip and sent for relief.

Farmers for miles around hurried to the scene and attempted to reach the vessel by small boats, but their efforts were unsuccessful. Late Saturday night a line was thrown from Barnhardt's Island aboard the steamer and a heavy cable stretched from the ship to the shore. Work of rescue began at eight o'clock yesterday morning.

SAYS SOCK WILL FIND MAN

Widow Of Poison Victim Certain It Will Capture Slayer.

Pottsville, Pa., July 18—The Pottsville police, who have been unable to locate "Italian Joe," who poisoned Frank Spero with a glass of beer containing arsenic, were visited Saturday by the widow of the murdered man, who offered them a sock worn by the murderer.

"With this sock in your possession, you will find the murderer within a week," she declared. A fortune teller told the woman that the murderer, wearing whiskers and sporting a cane, is hiding in a small shanty near Jersey City. Mrs. Spero frantically insisted on the police accepting the sock and searching for the murderer at the point indicated.

ACCIDENTLY SHOT

Lewis Kaufman Slightly Wounded by Oliver Daywalt While Hunting.

Lewis Kaufman, of Fayetteville, was accidentally shot by Oliver Daywalt, also of Fayetteville, while they were hunting groundhogs about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Kaufman and Daywalt, who are both employed in the garage of the Mont Alto Sanatorium were after groundhogs on the Cold Spring road near the home of B. E. Benner, and had shot one of the animals when Daywalt, who was at some distance from Kaufman, thought he saw another through the bushes and fired, hitting Kaufman, who was struck by about 25 shot scattered over the most of his body.

Kaufman was able to walk to a physician to receive medical attention. It was found that the shots were just underneath the skin and that his wounds while painful were not serious.

Martinsburg	28	24	.538
Chambersburg	25	29	.463

Hanover	23	29	.442

CHAMBERSBURG WINS TWO

Chambersburg slipped into fourth place Saturday by taking both sessions of a double bill from Hagerstown, 5 to 4 and 2 to 1. Granley qualified as an Iron Man by hurling both games for the winners. He got better as he went along, allowing 16 hits in the first game and only 4 in the second.

CLOSE ONE AT HANOVER

Hanover used two pitchers to win a close one from Waynesboro, 4 to 3. Goff and Cadden lead in the hitting getting three clouts each. Hanover got two runs and tied the score in the sixth frame and the winning run came in the ninth inning.

FREDERICK-MARTINSBURG

Frederick could not score after the first inning and lost to Martinsburg, 7 to 2. Martinsburg hit Taylor at will, collecting fifteen runs, Lloyd leading his teammates with three blows. He also shone on the defense accepting 10 chances without a slip.

LEAGUE LEADERS IN DANGER

Giants Threaten Slumping Pirates. Indians One Game Ahead of Yankees.

A difficult week confronts both the Pittsburgh National League leaders and the Cleveland American world champions. The Pirates are striving hard to beat off New York, which is two games behind, while Boston, their next opponent, is coming after them at high speed. The Indians and the New York Yankees, who are beginning to edge away from the other American clubs start battle Wednesday for the top position. The Indians are only one game ahead of New York and have dropped three of their last four contests.

In the National League Pittsburgh has failed to set the same pace as on its previous Eastern invasion. Cooper the Pirates' star pitcher, disposed of Brooklyn and Philadelphia, but was batted out by New York. The Giants who went 10 innings yesterday before admitting defeat, have won seven of the nine games with the invading Western teams. Excellent pitching and timely hitting has enabled Boston to take eight games of the nine with the Westerners.

Brooklyn is batting well, but the pitchers, including Grimes, the Superba star, are unsteady. Poor pitching is causing St. Louis to drop back. After setbacks in New York and Boston, Chicago hopes to take revenge on the other Eastern clubs. The good work of the Cub twirlers early last week was wasted through light hitting. Cincinnati and Philadelphia are playing an in-and-out game.

In the American League Cleveland and New York are the only clubs that have played winning ball in the last three weeks, although the Indians have not batted effectively in the past few days. Both teams displayed some first-class pitching last week.
Washington and Detroit have been unable to keep step with the other first division teams. Both the Senators and Tigers fielded rather erratically recently. Boston has shown great improvement since going West. The Red Sox were outplayed by Cleveland only after a hard battle. St. Louis, Chicago and Philadelphia are hitting lightly.

The Aspers Athletic Club made it five straight by defeating Arendtsville at Arendtsville on Saturday. The Aspers boys got to Kane in the second inning for eight safe hits and these hits, combined with his hitting two men and some loose fielding they piled up eleven runs. Lower pitched a fine game and deserves most of the credit for the win as he was backed by a loose field as the Arendtsville boys should not have had more than two runs. Score:

cities or other business men's organizations will be asked to co-operate with the State Lincoln Highway Association on so large a scale that it will not only attract motorists from this region but from other sections of the state. The towns most vitally concerned in the opening of the new roads
will be asked to declare a half holiday and that business shall come to a standstill while the celebration is in progress.

Prominent Speakers

Speakers of national prominence
will be on the program at Caledonia Park and several officials of the Lincoln Highway Association will be present. Entertainment features at the park will consist of an ox roast and barbecue. According to the present plans delegations from towns on the feeder roads to Gettysburg will meet here, probably at noon on the day of the celebration, and proceed to the park in parade fashion. There they will be met by delegations from towns
west on the Lincoln Highway and National Highway.

Four main roads will have been completed by the time of the celebration and it is for the purpose of formally recognizing this fact and to give the motorist an opportunity to express his appreciation for what has been done for his comfort that the assembly is to be held at Caledonia.

Roads Will Be Finished

Concrete work, it is believed, will be completed on the Lincoln Highway between here and Chambersburg by the middle of August at the latest and contractors on the Harrisburg road
have assured the State Lincoln High-

FLUFFY'S LESSON

FLUFFY was the spoiled chick of Mrs. Leghorn's brood, and so one morning when Duckie called to her to play with him Fluffy went, although she knew that her mother had told all the chicks that the way the ducklings had of playing was not good for chicks.

"We are going down to the pond," said Duckie. "My brothers and sisters are far down the road now, but we can catch them."

Of course, Fluffy did not know what a pond was like, but she did not intend to let Duckie think he knew more than she did, so she went along.

It seemed a long way to the pond, but Fluffy was brave and she walked along behind the waddling ducklings, but when they reached the pond and all the youngsters walked right into the water Fluffy wished she was back in the nice, dry barnyard with her mother.

"Come along, Fluffy," called Duckie, as he followed his brothers and sisters.

"Oh, she can't swim," said the others. "She is only a chicken."

"I can swim if I want to," answered Fluffy, "but I do not like to get my feathers wet."

"Oh, she does not want to get her feathers wet," laughed the ducklings. "Why did you ask her, Duckie? She can't play with us; she is afraid."

This was too much to bear. Fluffy walked to the edge of the pond and put one little foot in the cold water. "You don't have to get your feathers wet," said Duckie. "You do not need to dive for things as we do; just swim like this."

"Like this" was very easy for Duckie, because he was a duck and had the right sort of feet, but when poor little Fluffy waded in she was soon fluttering and flapping about in the most helpless manner, too far from the bank to get back.

"Peep, peep, peep!" cried poor, frightened little Fluffy. "I don't like this cold water and I am getting soaked. I know I shall go right to the bottom of this dreadful black pond in a minute. Peep, peep, peep!"

Duckie and his brothers and sisters began to swim away, for they were frightened now at what they had done, and if it had not been for Rover Dog, who jumped in and saved Fluffy by picking her up in his big mouth, she would never have seen her mother again.

"I saw you running away with the ducklings," said Rover, "and I thought you would get into trouble, so I followed; you cannot swim."

"I know I can't now, but I thought I could," peeped Fluffy weakly, after Rover had gently rolled her over in the grass and dried her feathers.

When Rover and Fluffy reached the barnyard Mrs. Leghorn was clucking loudly for her lost chick.

"Here she is," said Rover, "and I advise you to be a little more watchful in the future if you wish to bring up all your family. This chick was trying to swim when I found her."

Poor Mrs. Leghorn just tumbled over from fright and it took Mrs. White Hen and Mrs. Black Hen some time before they could get her to eat her dinner.

But no one had to watch Fluffy after that. She had learned that chickens cannot swim even if ducklings can, and when they call her "fraidy chick" Fluffy just looks at their feet and they stop calling her names.

SIX SENT TO BOTTOM

Norfolk, Va., July 18—Six former enemy war craft now have found a last resting place on the floor of the Atlantic seventy-five miles off the Virginia Capes. They will be joined next week by the light cruiser Frankfurt and dreadnaught Ostfriesland, the last of the German ships turned over to the United States for experimental purposes.

Two destroyers were sent down yesterday by shell fire from the Atlantic fleet.

Naval and Army aircraft will undertake to destroy the Frankfurt Monday and the Ostfriesland Wednesday. Should they fail, destroyers will shell the Frankfurt and the Ostfriesland will fail a target to the 14-inch guns of the superdreadnaught Pennsylvania, flagship of the Atlantic fleet.

SYNOPSIS

A play that will interest the average motion picture patron because of its uniqueness and difference from other productions. As a novel, the story is popular with the lovers of mystery, society and love. It combines the elements of these three types of fiction and blends them into a splendid production which offers Miss Joyce unlimited opportunities in the way of emotional acting. The role of Constance Randall is different from anything the star has previously assumed, and presents her in an entirely new light. Edward Jose, famed as a director of big productions, directed "The Scarab Ring." He is a stickler for detail, and had many sets constructed exactly like the original described in the script. For the scene inside the Tombs, he had architects draw plans of the interior, taking exact measurements and sketching the equipment in detail. When these were completed, the Vitagraph mechanical force built an exact duplication of the famous New York city prison in the studio. A similar procedure took place for the courtroom set. The result is something different from the average motion picture. It is a living, plastic reality; a chapter of life, lived and not acted; a picture that will hold the interest; one well worth seeing.
